Customer Reviews

Our 9yr old ASD/ADHD daughter loves the Smart Girl's Guide books, and they really help her navigate her world. She remember things best if she has read them, so these books really help her learn and it seems like there is a book for just about everything she would want/ need to know

I have a niece who is 12 and recently started to come home from school alone. We read this together and it was a great tool to have conversations about important things in a non-threatening way. This book covers all the big issues and was fun to read together. It is a wonderful resource.

my daughter loved this and it helped her get organized for staying home alone. It prompts a kid to have a plan and gives them a workbook to record ways to communicate - text, phone #s, etc. she loves having that. Reminds mom to program things into phones and computer to make it easier. It seems like it would be such an easy thing, but this aids the transition and helps.

I bought this for my 10 year old son. I love that he saw that it was an American Girl book and was motivated to read it because of the subject matter; he wants to stay home alone. This book was excellent. He asked me very good questions. I recommend for boy or girl.

I really liked this book. I feel more prepared for staying home alone and even if I am baby sitting my little sister

I'm only a 9 year old and I loved the book!! It is a really good choice for kids my age!!

This works and helps girls for staying home alone. It is a very useful book. Please read this book if you are learning to stay home alone.

It was a really helped me prepare for when I stay home alone Anson don't feel like there are ghosts in the house and I am super excited to try to stay home alone
